Wealth in America 2008 Study

Northern Trust’s annual Wealth in America study represents one of the most complete pictures available of U.S. millionaires and their finances. Major topics covered by the study include millionaires’ attitude toward the stock market and investments, asset allocation plans, use of professional advisors, views on philanthropy and inheritance, and plans for retirement.

This year’s study highlights two trends: the steadfastness of affluent investors in the face of a worsening economy; and the emergence of a class of “Gen X” millionaires whose attitudes toward their finances are remarkably different from older affluent households.

“Inspiring Impressionism” at the Denver Art Museum through May 25, and the Seattle Art Museum June 19 - September 21

“Inspiring Impressionism,” an exhibition of the great Impressionist artists featuring more than 80 works from more than 40 museums and private collections around the world, is currently at the Denver Art Museum until May 25. This national, traveling exhibition, which is sponsored in part by Northern Trust, received glowing reviews in Atlanta where it debuted at the High Museum of Art.

The exhibition is the first to explore the influence of the Old Master painters, such as Raphael and Titian, and Impressionists, including Monet and Degas. It was organized by the Denver Art Museum in collaboration with the High Museum of Art and the Seattle Art Museum. It showcases collections from museums around the world, such as the National Gallery in London, The Musée d’Orsay in Paris and the Museo Nacional del Prado in Spain. Other featured artists include Cezanne, Rembrandt, Rubens and Fragonard. To learn more, visit northerntrust.com/impressionism.
