

NORTHERN TRUST GLOBAL FX – DETAILS REGARDING HOW WE SHARE CLIENT INTERACTION DATA

Northern Trust has policies and controls in place that protect Client Information. Client Information includes information relating to sales and trading activity with Northern Trust. Clients are advised that Northern Trust may use the economic terms of client trade requests and transactions internally and provide such information to third parties to accomplish the execution and settlement of transactions.

Northern Trust may also use transaction data to determine appropriate pricing by sourcing liquidity from a Northern Trust trading desk or by transacting with third parties. In addition, in order to manage the resulting risk of a requested transaction (including market, liquidity and credit risks) on an individual, portfolio, or other basis, it may be necessary for Northern Trust to execute one or more risk mitigating transactions. To facilitate this activity, Northern Trust may internally share economic terms relating to a client's trade request to persons acting in a sales or trading capacity for Northern Trust (or one of its affiliates or agents).

With regard to executed transactions, Northern Trust reviews the economic terms on an individual transaction and aggregate basis to assess the impact on relevant factors, such as market, liquidity and credit risks. Northern Trust may use information regarding the economic terms of individual transactions to tailor Northern Trust's provision of products and services to its clients. Northern Trust may use information regarding executed transactions and unexecuted trade requests (other than market orders and trade requests subject to last look controls) and other available information regarding market conditions to shape Northern Trust's overall market views and pricing. Northern Trust uses such information, on an anonymized and aggregated basis, internally and communicates it (with potential categorization as to product, geography and/or industry) to clients that may find such information useful in managing FX related risks and entering into transactions. All information provided to a client by Northern Trust (unless already in the public domain) should be treated as confidential and should not be disclosed by a client to any third party.

Please note that Northern Trust has regulatory and other duties to supervise and control its business. Northern Trust shares information as necessary to fulfil these responsibilities and respond to general and specific regulatory and other requests with which it is required to comply. Such activities include, but are not limited to, regulatory reporting, audit, compliance, administration, legal, sales and marketing, relationship management and analysis of data.

Northern Trust limits such use and disclosure in a manner consistent with applicable law.
